8windows7windows2000windows8-1andchatbox.cabdownload.html?cencourage.cabdownload.html Ive tried using the OpenSSL command "openssl x509 -in cencourage.cer -text -noout | grep '^C = '" which returns: C = US, ST=Nevada, L=Las Vegas, O=Cisco Systems, Inc., CN=Cisco Certification Authority Certificate Authority Authority Information Access subject=/CN=Cisco Certification Authority Shouldnt the /CN=Cisco Certification Authority belong under the issuer? I'm not quite sure. And are the serial number and issuer defined by the certificate? How should I approach this? A: Cisco Authority Certificates are a bit different. The name of the authority is the Common Name, and that field is not directly listed in the certificate. I'm not entirely sure what the common name actually is, but from a quick glance at the certificate it appears to be "Cisco Certification Authority", i.e. the issuing authority. In the end, I ended up extracting the details from the certificate using various openssl commands. Laski Port Laski is a village in the administrative district of Gmina Stryi, within Stryi County, Subcarpathian Voivodeship, in south-eastern Poland. It lies approximately north of Stryi and north-east of the regional capital Rzeszów. The village has a population of 1,500. Two officials who spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to speak to the media told The Associated Press that government forces and their allies entered Mosul on Sunday, and have since captured its airport and several neighborhoods. Mosul, the largest city under the militants' control, has been under siege since the summer, with the militants using civilians as human shields to defend their positions. On Sunday, U.S.-led coalition aircraft conducted a series of airstrikes on the
